

PRESS RELEASE

Alitalia member of IATA

Rome, 25 May 2009 – Alitalia has been re-established as a member of IATA (International Air Transport Association), following completion of all the necessary formalities. Alitalia will therefore take part into all renewal programs carried out by the Association, capitalizing on the highly regarded status and professionalism that IATA enjoys in all key sectors of the air transport.

Alitalia is now in a position to play an active role in all the Association's projects, confirming its intention to be a key player in the air transport world, at the same time as following an investment strategy to continuously improve its services and products.

IATA represents all the major airlines, generating more than 93% of all international scheduled air traffic, with approximately 230 associates from more than 140 countries in the world.
